CAPTAIN CANOT,

A UTHOR OF THE GREAT BOOK JUST BE-IN 1 PUBLISHED, SPEAKS OF HAMPTON'S OREAT CURE OF RUBUMATISM CONTRACTED

UNDER TROPICAL CLIMATES. BALTIMORE, Md., June 4, 1854. Mr. Stockbridge, of the Fountain Hotel. Light street, Dear Sir : Being on the point of leaving the city,

I avail myself of a few idle moments to thank you kindly for the medicine you sent me, and which has restored me to the use of my limbs. I beg you to Since I had the fortune to use Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture my confidence is so strong that, in gratitude to the proprietors of said medicine, I beg you to present my respects to them, and induce them to make it more publicly known as a sure Kheumasic cure. Having called on me on the 19th of April last, and seen me prostrated on my bed, assless in all my liabs, you can appreciate nearly as well as myself the prompt relief I received from Dr. Hampton's Tincture, and I am positive had it not been for your strong and foroible recommendations I should still have been in bed.

It is really a pity this specific should not be approved by medical men, and like all patent drugs it hould suffer the imputation the public generally ive to such preparations. I myself, who was a vays opposed to a patented specific, took this medicine with reluctance, and without confidence in it and it was only through your disinterested, friendly recommendations, and my critical situation that in duced me to try this really beneficial Vegetable

You may inform Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray that they are at liberty to make use of my name in the support of the good effects of Dr. Hampton's Togetable fincture, as it has cured me in five weeks of a chronic Inflammatory Rhoumatism, contracted un let tropical climates, and of seven years' periodical furntion. I have only used three bottles, and find that even the deformed parts of my hands are fast returning o their former natural appearance

I have been under the treatment of several physleians in London and Paris, without any apparent benefit; also, while in New York, having tried the Phomosonian and Homopathic remedies, after having been tormented with galvanie ba teries, cold and aromatic baths, and hundreds of internal and riernal medicines, all to no effect, I am, so far, ured by this Hampton's Vege able Tineture only. Therefore, my ear sir, accept of the assurance of my gratitude, and believe me your well wisher. THOMAS CANOT.

REV. VERNON ESKRIDGE, U. S. N. PORTSMOUTH, VA, Aug. 18, 1851. Mr. J. E. Boush—Bear sir: While I am, in gene ral, opposed to patent medicines, cander compels me to state that I have great confidence in the virtues of Hampton's Vegetable Tincture. For several nonths past I have used it in my family; and in lyspepsia, loss of appetite, dissiness, and general dedity, with entire success. So far as my experience exten is, therefore, I take pleasure in recommending it to the afflicted as a safe and efficient remedy. I am, respectfully, yours, VERNON ESERIDGE, Chaplain, United States Navy. HOME TESTIMONY.

AN ICELARDIO LEGEND As early as 988, Errick Rande, an Ice-

ing manned them with sufficient crews of colonists, set forth from Iceland to what appeared a more congenial climate. They sailed upon the ocean fifteen days, and they saw no land. The next day brought with it a storm, and many a gallant vessel sunk in the deep. Mountains of ice covered the water as far as the eye could reach, and but a few galleys escaped destruction. The morning of the seventeenth day was clear and cloudless; the sea was calm, and far away to the north-ward could be seen the glare of iee-fields reflecting on the sky. The remains of the shattered fleet gathered together to pursue their voyage but the galley of Errick Rande was not there. The crew of a galley which was driven further down than the rest, reported that, as the morning broke, the large fields of ice that had covered the ocean were driven by the current past them, and that they beheld the galley of Errick Rande, borne by resistless force, and with the speed of the wind, before a tremendous field of ice-her crew had lost all control over her-they were tossing their arms in wild agony Scarcely a moment had elapsed before it was walled in by a hundred icehills, and the whole mass moved forward and was con beyond the horizon. That the galley of the narrators escaped was wonderful-it

Half a century after that a Danish colony were established upon the western coast of Greenland. The crew of the vessels which carried the colonists thither, in their excursions into the interior, crossed a range of hills that stretched to the northward; they had approached nearer to the pole than any preceding adventurers. Upon looking down from the summit of the hills, they beheld a vact and interminable field of ice, undulating in various places, and formed into a thousand grotesque shapes. They saw not far from the shore a figure in an icevessel with glittering icicles, instead of masts rising from it. Curiosity prompt ed them to approach, when they beheld a dismal sight. Figures of men in every attitude of woe were upon the dock, but they were icy things; one figure slees stood erect, and, with folded orms, least ing against the mast. A betche was procured, and the ice split arey, and the features of a chieftain disclosed, pallid and deathly, and free from decay. This was, doubtless, the vessel, and that figure the form of Errick Rande. Benumbed with cold, and in the agony of despair. his crew had fallen around him. The spray of the ocean and the fors had froz as it lighted upon them, and covered each figure with an icy robe, which the shortlived glance of a Greenland on had not time to remove. The Danes gezed upon the spectacle with trembling. They knew not but the scene might be their fate, They knelt down upon the dock, and muttered a prayer in their netive tongue for the souls of the frozen crew.

FRAUD IN FUEL AND GROCKRIES. -At a Then they will get the best operatives and season when the prices of almost every their work will be well and promptly necessity of life are high, when the labor none. We hope we have said out resorting to fraudulent weights and enough to correct such practices where- measures. Under our present system, the purchaser of coal has no means of ascertaining whether he gets full weight. by paying their operatives liberally than He relies almost entirely on the integrity of the coal dealer. We are told that in England coal is sent round in large stout bags, and the carrier takes with him a pair of scales, so that the purchaser can weigh one or all of the bags as he pleases. May not such a regulation in this city be adopted with advantage?

> quantities, the frauds practiced are enermous. Why does not every family endeavor to procure a pair of scales, or provide themselves with some means of ascertaining the exact weight of the article they purchase? The cost of making this provision is very trifling, and would be saved often in a single day's purchase. More than one half the butter, sugar, and other articles retailed by the pound, or in small quantities, is light weight. About fourteen ounces is the ordinary quantity sold for the pound in the sale of these articles. In relation to the sale of coal, it has been suggested that the city should provide public scales, where the purchaser could, had he any doubt of the accuracy of the weight, compel the seller to take the article and have it weighed, and if fraud was intended, punishment should follow.

EVENING STAR WARD OF LABORING MEN. At this period of bank panics and note-shaving excitements, the following remarks, from the Boston Herald, are peculiarly appropriate, and worthy the serious attention of the employing and journeymen mechanics of this city:

Those who employ operatives for manual labor are not sufficiently impressed with the importance of paying their wages when due, in money-and in money too, of the value of which there is no question. Laborers, as a class, whether male or female, and by these we mean particularly those who work with their hands, perform the hardest services. They earn every dollar which their employers stipulate to pay. There is so much competition among them, that they work, and work hard, for barely enough to procure them subsistence and clothing. Let them be as economical as they may they can lay nothing up, especially is they have families to support. They have to take the risk of sickness, which often finds them without the means of procuring medical advice or medicine and, in addition to their sufferings from disease, they encounter, when they lose their health, the still severer sufferings of penury.

One thing which tends to keep the la borer in his depressed condition, is the practice which some employers pursue, of paying off their operatives in orders upon shopkeepers. These orders, upon an average, are not worth seventy-five per cent. of the amount for which they are drawn. Besides losing twenty-five per cent of his wages in this manner, the operative is frequently obliged to take up goods which he does not want, because the storekeeper upon whom the order is drawn has not the articles they wish. This whole system should be abandoned, and laboring men should be paid their wages in gold and silver. They are not judges of bank bills, and though they may receive of their employers money which is current, they are liable, in making change, to be imposed upon by uncurrent money. If they could alway pay gold and silver they could demand change of the same sort, and then they would be protected from the losses which the working classes sustain from uneur-

There are but very few laboring men in our city who are fools enough to work for an employer who pays his hands, in whole or in part, in orders. Those who take store pay, do their work accordingly, and if they find their orders do not net them more than from fifty to seventyave per cent. will soon learn to slight their work to that extent, so that the employer gains nothing by the operation. Those who have the best workmen, are the employers who pay the highest wages, promptly when due, and in money on which there is no discount; while those who get off bank bills on which there is from two to five per cent. discount, lose more than twice that amount in the quantity and quality of the work which their operatives perform. There is nothing gained by an unfairness or niggardliness towards laborers. A liberal compensation and fair estimate of time towards this class, pays better than the opposite course; and every petty advantage which is taken of the necessities of the laborer, in the end injures the employer. Employers of manual laborers should pay their hands liberally and in specie.

ever they exist, and employers may rest assured that they will make more money by practising any meanness in the pay-

"WANTED-AN ACTIVE LAD."-Every paper we read proclaims a want of this kind, remarks the Sunday Mercury. Active lads seem to be in universal demand and their services command the highest remuneration. This, however, should excite no surprise. Lads of this character have of late grown scarce—the crop for the last few years has so signally failed-that something more than ordi nary exertion is necessary to discover those of the proper stamp. Our youths have everywhere degenerated, and where a few years since we found active, intelligent lads clustering about every hearth stone, we now see only idle, vicious youths, growing up in moral and intellectual imbecility, as thistles in the field. "Wanted-an active lad." Ie is wanted for more purposes than one. Not merely to attend the shop, run errands. or drive the plough or plane; but to hew out for himself the path to competence; to aid in building up good and wise institutions; to pluck up by the roots old and hoary errors; to help on the cause of reform wherever its banner is flung upon the air. And yet not for this alone is the active lad wanted. He is needed in the paths and temple of learning, that he may become fitted for the pulpit and the forum, and the thousand responsibilities that man is heir to.

"Wanted-an active lad." Life is few and far between; often but the acci- recent acts of the most revolting cruelfy uable to society than the active lads | cut off; others are hamstrung."
